Comprehensive care, not just products

Erbe care program offers the unmatched first line of application and service support for our products to convert them into clinical solutions with added value for you.

Innovative technology is only one part of the comprehensive solutions we offer to ensure optimal support for processes in medical facilities and in your area of expertise. Through the services we provide, we accompany you throughout the entire life cycle of your product.

At your own premises or at any place mutually convenient, we train you and your team to operate our systems, we will do preventive maintenance & will invite you to test our products and ask questions.

In changing times and to respond quickly, we would be honoured to conduct online or offline training and maintenance programs with your clinical as well as biomedical teams.

In daily practice, Erbe care provides custom-tailored onsite training and maintenance packages to ensure smooth operation of your system day and night.
